

JOB DESCRIPTION

Motion Designer

LOCATION: NOTTINGHAM, UK (REMOTE WORKING)

Do you love motion design? Do you understand the process from script to animation? Do you have a keen eye for detail and want to develop your skills while working on varied projects? This could be for you.

Overview

Threerooms is an award-winning branding agency based in Nottingham in the UK. Our talented, friendly and committed team works on a wide variety of brand and creative design projects for clients in the UK, Europe and globally. Recently shortlisted nationally for Design Agency of the Year by The Drum, we are looking to expand the team and build on our success.

The role

We have an exciting opportunity for a talented and creative motion designer to work alongside our creative team to help bring our brands and designs to life. The right candidate will already have experience in this role and be confident in producing scripts and storyboards ahead of design and animation to create finished videos to a high standard. As a motion designer at Threerooms, you'll be breathing life into our fantastic brand and creative work at all levels, from adding personality to logos with simple idents and motion graphics to fully-featured brand launch videos and explainers.

Core responsibilities

- Work professionally with clients and our team to understand their goals and realise their needs in motion
- Produce scripts to translate a brief or supplied messaging into an effective narrative
- Create visually engaging storyboards that communicate how an animation or film will communicate and come to life

- Produce high-quality motion graphics that achieve and exceed the expectations set by the storyboards.

Additional responsibilities

- Support the client services team to deliver projects on time, on budget and to a high standard
- Assist the client services team with quotations and estimates relating to motion work
- Work collaboratively with our client services, design and strategy team to maximise the potential of all brand and creative projects
- Be aware of our clients' own goals to help them to succeed
- Manage external resources (such as illustrators, voice actors, music suppliers and other motion designers) to complete projects.
- Support internal marketing and sales activities to promote the company, such as creating animations for social media and the company website
- Be an advocate for the company, performing additional duties as required to support the business in its goals.

Skills and experience

- Relevant education in animation or motion is preferred but not essential
- Experience working in a motion, animation or media role
- A strong portfolio or showreel of motion work
- An in-depth understanding of the principles of motion
- Ability to tell stories and communicate visually
- A good work ethic, well organised and accurate with a keen eye for detail and good time-management skills
- A clear and confident communicator, both verbally and written
- Fully conversant with Adobe Creative Suite software, including Adobe After Effects and Premiere Pro (or Final Cut)
- Financial awareness to help ensure the profitability of work carried out while meeting the agreed project budgets
- Experience in filming, lighting and sound recording in a real-world environment is desirable.

Location and hours

Based out of Nottingham in the UK, we are a remote-first agency. Although the role is mainly remote working, you may be required to travel within the UK to attend training sessions, client and team meetings and to carry out your duties in line with your job description. Working hours are 9:00-5:30, Monday to Friday, with plenty of flexibility to ensure a healthy work-life balance.

What we offer

- A competitive salary of £28,000-£35,000 per annum (dependant on skills and experience)

- Remote working (with some travel expected)
- 25 days holiday (increasing with service)
- Flexibility to ensure work-life balance
- Personalised development plan with training budget
- Work in a dynamic environment within an ambitious, growing company.
